We are working the issue. I was surprised to see how many people are coming to this. The room we had secured last week was bigger. Given a conflict, facilities put us in a smaller room that should hold about 50 people. Given this meeting was to review and confirm past decisions, I am surprised that we have so many people coming.

We are continuing to seek a larger room, but maybe we could reduce the number of people coming to only the necessary few? Give me a call if you have a moment.

I have asked my team to reach out to you and your contracting staff to walk through the space to see if we can make this work.

I understand that OPM now cannot host the meeting on Wednesday because of a scheduling conflict. It will be next to impossible for us to get a room at GSA to accommodate the entire task force at this point. We had a room reserved but released it once OPM decided to host. What can you do? Mary

Hello Mary,

Thank you for your note and for the interest in our suggested topics. I assume our team can reach out directly to the individuals you listed in your note to schedule the meetings.
To answer your question about USA Learning and if we have had any discussions, yes IBM attended the USA Learning Industry Day on August 3, 2018. IBM responded to the USALearning Services RFI on August 24 2018 and we had two meetings with FEDSIM.

We have assembled teams to prepare material for each of these discussions and we will come prepared with ideas and recommendations. Thank you again. It is greatly appreciated.

Wow Mary. (b) (6) is terrific. He was our G-to-G portfolio manager and had to deal with all the Project Safecom/FirstNet craziness, as well as Disaster Management, Grants Mgmt, and a couple of other key intergovernmental activities, working with Frank and Martha back then.

Great to see everything going well for you. Looking forward to catching up soon.

All the best,

Subject: New IBM Center Report on Improving Cross-Agency Collaboration
Date: Wed, 4 Oct 2017 13:43:40 -0400

MD5: 91df94200c87c0da2e6f8143e5c58583

Hi - The IBM Center released a new report today that we thought you would find of interest, entitled:
Cross-Agency Collaboration: A Case Study of Cross-Agency Priority Goals.

This report assesses the implementation of the 15 Cross-Agency Priority (CAP) Goals put in place for the period of fiscal years 2014–2017. It is based on case studies, interviews with participants and a review of reports and studies on the implementation of these goals.

The report provides concrete evidence of the value of a relatively new statutory mechanism put in place in 2010 that supports working across agency boundaries. It also provides insights on ways federal leaders can improve this mechanism, both governmentwide and within individual cross-agency teams, in the future.

Report Link:

<http://www.businessofgovernment.org/report/cross-agency-collaboration-case-study-cross-agency-priority-goals>

Summary blog post:

<http://www.businessofgovernment.org/blog/business-government/dismal-gao-assessment-%E2%80%93-ray-hope>

Some highlights from the report:

- The Government Performance and Results Modernization Act of 2010 requires the Office of Management and Budget to develop a set of cross-agency priority (CAP) goals. Fifteen CAP Goals were designated for the four-year period, fiscal years 2014–2017. Of these, eight focused on mission-support-related goals, such as improving IT delivery, and seven focused on mission-related goals, such as improving the mental health of veterans
- Each of the 15 CAP Goals have yielded incremental, but tangible results. For example, the CAP Goal to increase the commercialization of federal patents and licenses has achieved an upward trend, as well as increased private sector use of specialized federal lab facilities across a range of federal agencies.
- The actions taken within each of the CAP Goals have resulted in increased performance and results in several areas that, in a number of cases, had previously demonstrated little to no progress. For example, past efforts to coordinate permitting and review processes between agencies lagged until this initiative was designated as a CAP Goal.
- In addition to demonstrated results in each of the 15 individual CAP Goals, OMB has created a foundation for managing cross-agency initiatives more broadly. It has institutionalized policies, processes, governance structures and capacities to manage cross-agency initiatives on a governmentwide basis.
- The overall implementation approach to the CAP Goals has been effective. There is no evidence supporting the need to undertake a major rethink, but there are opportunities to fine-tune processes and build on the foundation put in place. The report offers a series of recommendations to improve both governmentwide and goal team operating level effectiveness. For example, it recommends setting bolder goals and creating full-time goal teams.

We hope you find the report of interest. Please feel free to contact me for additional information or if you have any questions.

Thanks again for your help!

Great, thanks, this looks cool ... I would just note that this report is titled differently from what is in the blog paper ... I'm guessing the paper included the title of the PPS report instead of the TCC report ...

Mary and I have both read this over and think this paper is great -- well-timed, on-point, great message, etc. Our collective comments are fairly minor. They include:

(b) (5)

I imagine the blurring of these points may be somewhat intentional because it could be difficult to disentangle them and have them each stand on their own. But I'd suggest that it might be worth finding ways to accentuate or emphasize the second point, either in this paper or in following blog posts. I say this both because (b) (5) and this could be a really fine example to hone in on.

I hope these thoughts are helpful but again appreciate you providing Mary and me the opportunity to look it over!

Thanks, Mary! I'll reach out to Craig via Steve Brockelman.

As for the blog post length . . . yes, I'm kinda embarrassed how long they are! I'm trying to capture some of the context. The stuff on performance.gov seems to imply immaculate conception for the various success stories described there . . . As a result, I'm trying to show how these evolve over time and are in a larger context, and that they have some sort of governance framework. . . . Maybe I'm trying to do too much! . . . I'm hoping the new folks don't just hit the "delete" button, but rather build on what's been put in place, seeing how a number of these initiatives have roots going back to Clinton and Bush.

I'll share with a colleague who doesn't have any background in this and ask her to cut the "uninteresting" stuff. She's done a good job on this for some of my earlier posts!

Hello (b) (6) - thanks for sharing. Craig Jennings is at GSA - he manages the federal CIO Council.

A question and a suggestion.

Who is the audience for this?

A lot of the background and history should probably be shortened summarized in a different way. I think less of "what happened and who was involved " and more of what successes were achieved and new ideas for moving things forward would be appealing. In my own opinion (not at all representing GSA or the Administration), not sure that the history or what was even recently proposed and or delivered is being reviewed.

We can assume CAP goals will remain but who knows. Timing is tricky.

Given this is the ninth post in your series I acknowledge my comments may make your posts inconsistent and certainly up.to you to move forward as you think best.

Hello (b) (6) - thanks so much for the invitation. I can't commit to the 8th at this time so a couple of options - can wait a couple of weeks to see how that day is playing out (may have an EEO hearing) or invite Kay in my place. Either works for me.

And I saw Hidden Figures over the weekend and it was outstanding!

IBM is inviting a few government leaders to join a panel discussion in celebration of International Women's Day, Wednesday, March 8th. I offered to reach out to you to see if you would be interested in joining the panel, below, which will focus on a range of topics including diversity and mentorship:

IBM International Women's Day Panel

Wednesday, March 8, 2017

Regal Cinema, Gallery Place Chinatown: 701 7th St NW, Washington, DC 20001

3pm - 4pm

You are welcome to stay for the screening of "Hidden Figures" afterwards - as you may know, this is an awesome movie about a team of African-American women mathematicians who served a vital role in NASA during the early years of the US space program. If you'd like to attend the screening, you may join the IBM group or pay for your own ticket (under $25).

For more information on International Women's Day please see: <https://www.internationalwomensday.com>

Hope you can make it!

Thanks for providing this PCR in an expedite manner. As the Government considers the details included on the PCR, we would like IBM to respond to the attached set of slides consolidating comments and programmatic concerns. Ideally, we would like to see how the "strawman" timeline is being compressed into the notional schedule.

The Government requests comments and responses from IBM NLT Tuesday, November 21 by noon. As IBM response will be used to finalized the analysis if the PCR, I hereby request an extension of the 10 day of validity for this proposal until 30 Nov 2017 (hoping for a response prior to that date).

Should you have questions, feel free to reach out to Angelica or myself.

Best regards,

Nydia

Dear Mary,

As a valued IBM client, we place a premium on your feedback about your relationship with IBM.

To help provide a better client experiences, IBM is implementing online surveys using a digital platform called Medallia. The surveys are very brief and should not take more than five minutes to complete.

While initial invitations were sent on June 6, a reminder message containing a link to the survey will be sent to you Wednesday, June 13. Please look for an email from IBM Client Feedback <ibm@express.fedw1.medallia.com>.

Thank you in advance for providing feedback on how we're doing and how we can better serve GSA.

Mary,
Looking forward to seeing you on Friday at the HRLinks status. I have been working on an IBM Philanthropic Grant in Argentina and now I am back. I know I asked this of you once before but I forgot who you suggested I reach out too. People on my team have worked with one of the small businesses that is supporting EIS using IBM Data Science tools to put together a compelling view of the EIS rates data on a map. We would like to set up a demonstration with the GSA people who would find this most interesting. Do you have a suggestion of who would be most interested?

Hi Mary,

This has been a busy week, working through remaining details and decisions around the migration schedule. We received direction from FEDSIM on Tuesday evening to proceed with new requirements and schedule, initiated the new scope of activities on Wednesday, and submitted a re-baseline of the detailed IMS yesterday. Using this information we are finalizing the PCR today and throughout the weekend, and are targeting a submittal to GSA by end of day Monday (03/26). Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns with this approach.

Additionally, I also confirmed with Adam that he is available for the existing 03/30 meeting, so there is no need to move the meeting to 04/02 for his availability. Please let me know if there is anything else I can provide. Thank you.

Hello (b) (6) - our GSA internal team just met and we have two requests

(1) The GSA contracting team has submitted the request for the PCR so we can understand and discuss the costs that exceed the current funded CLIN. My understanding is that IBM and GSA have been discussing this for a while and we'd like that information as soon as possible and will want to discuss during the next scheduled meeting.

(2) We'd like to move the next meeting to April 2 so that Adam can participate.

If the April 2 date works, please let me know and we'll work to schedule with you. Mary

Mary,

As a follow up from our call on Friday, I met with my team several times over the weekend to begin work on addressing the concerns that were raised. I am out on vacation this week with my family but I will continue to work these issues throughout the week. Alexandra contacted me to schedule a call on Friday but unfortunately I will be travelling. I asked her to schedule the call for anytime Monday 3/26 or after. Please see below my rough notes update and I will provide another status update email at the end of the week. In the mean time, if you have any questions please let me know.

Issue 1: new and unexpected integrations being added which create unknown impacts and aren't FedRAMP certified - ServiceNow, BigFix, MTP as examples

Background Info: I confirmed these three items (ServiceNow, BigFix, NTP) are in the approved SSP deliverable and are in the assessment scope of Coalfire. As you know, we have made investments with bringing an independent assessor Coalfire and we recently agreed to move more infrastructure into the ATO boundary that was not in the SSP. Action Being Taken: I clearly heard David's concerns and I am meeting with our hosting vendor CTO and our Security Team to see what we can do to be more proactive and increase confidence in this important work stream.

Issue 2: Training materials - poor quality

Background Info: Based on the feedback provided on Friday, there is dissatisfaction with the entire training work stream. In addition, there is a concern that GSA will be charged to rework the items with defects. Action Being Taken: I met with our IBM Learning Leader on Saturday and asked for his personal assistance to address this issue. I instructed our team to meet with GSA's Training Lead today and create a defect punch list to gain a better understanding of the specific problem areas. Once we have this info, the team will develop a plan this week to address these issues and provide it to GSA.

Issue 3: IMS Schedule - poor quality

Background Info: During IBM's Project Management Review process in which we interviewed GSA, dissatisfaction with the IMS was raised. As a result, we brought in a Master Project Scheduler expert to meet with GSA and we agreed to reduce the IMS to a more manageable size of 3000 lines (from 7000) which was implemented. The schedule is updated and reviewed with GSA on a weekly basis. David expressed a concern of what is missing from the plan. Action Being Taken: There will be a personnel change. Deputy Project Manager Tamar Staudenmaier will be transitioned off the project and replaced with a more senior expert.

Issue 4: Payroll parallel testing - unsure of the plan in place to support

Background Info: The Test Plan deliverable was delivered in December and approved in January. We recently received a request for more detail on parallel testing and it was provided on 3/5. Discussions occurred last week and an approach has been agreed to in principle. Action Being Taken: The plan forward is being finalized early this week. Also, see the point below about the schedule adjustment.

Issue 5: GSA having to "pull" information from IBM rather than IBM proactively sharing.

Background Info: I confirmed there is a formal communications approach for this program with formal status meetings and reports. However, this is not addressing GSA's concerns. Action Being Taken: Same as #3. Replacement of Deputy PM.

Issue 6: This is an issue raised by IBM that I discussed on Friday. We agree there is a lot of tension with our project teams and this is primarily due to the aggressive nature of the schedule. This is one of the contributing factors to several of the quality issues being raised.

Action Being Taken: We developed a plan to extend the schedule without increasing the price for GSA. This will allow for additional testing and provide greater assurance in the readiness for deployment. This plan was delivered on Sunday and is being reviewed by GSA today. I recommend a quick review and if in agreement, approval today.

Sent by: postmaster@napawash.org

Dear NAPA Fellow,
mary.davie@gsa.gov has nominated Kay Hy to become an Academy Fellow.
On that application, mary.davie@gsa.gov listed you as a seconding (supporting) Fellow. If you do not approve, please contact {nominating_Fellow}.

As a seconding Fellow, you are able to review the Nominee's application and submit a supporting Recommender's statement. To do that, please navigate to <https://www.napawash.org/nominate>, and log-in.

If you need assistance, please email candidates@napawash.org.

Thank you for your time and effort.

All,

As an action from our Executive Status meeting on Friday, I am providing a notional schedule of remaining System Integration Testing (SIT) activities based on our current status. Key milestones are as follows: Open connectivity and dependencies with OPM and NCUA must be complete to support a successful Test Readiness Review on Wednesday 02/21/18

- | Following the successful TRR, a kick-off meeting must be held with all SIT participants on Thursday 02/22/18
- | The cycle 2 environment and data will be prepared and validated over the weekend to support beginning of Cycle 2 execution on Monday 02/26/18
- | Remaining cycle 3 activities continue in sequence, with a planned SIT closure on 03/16/18 (representing a two-week delay from the initial schedule)

Please let me know if you have any questions.

IBM Center for The Business of Government
Connecting research to practice.

We are pleased to invite you to an event on October 10, 2018, starting at 2:00 pm, marking our 20th anniversary and the release of a new book, Government for the Future: Reflection and Vision for Tomorrow's Leaders. The event will be held in collaboration with the Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration in the Jack Morton Auditorium, George Washington University, 805 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC, and feature two panel discussions.

The first panel will envision provocative scenarios about government operations 20 years in the future, based on insights from chapters they authored for the book. Mark Abramson, our first Executive Director of the Center, will moderate the discussion. Panelists, all of whom bring great experience working in and with government, include: Shelley Metzenbaum, Senior Fellow, The Volcker Alliance

| Hollie Russon-Gilman, Lecturer, Columbia University School of International and Public Affairs and Fellow, New America

| Darrell West, Founding Director, Center for Technology Innovation, Brookings Institution

| Lori Gordon, Strategist, BrainQ

The second panel of management leaders across four Administrations will reflect on lessons learned from major government reforms over the past 20 years that can drive improved government management in the future. Jonathan Breul, former Executive Director of the Center and former Senior Advisor to the Deputy Director for Management at OMB, will moderate the discussion. Panelists include:

| Sally Katzen – Deputy Director for Management, OMB 1999 - 2001

| Clay Johnson – Deputy Director for Management, OMB, 2003 - 2009

| Andrew Mayock – Deputy Director for Management, OMB, 2015 - 2017

| Margaret Weichert – Deputy Director for Management, OMB, 2017 - present

A reception will then begin at 5:00 pm and conclude at 7:00 pm.

Please RSVP by September 28, 2018 by following this link.

Thank you and we hope to see you there!

Best regards,

Dear Ms. Davie,

I would like to introduce you to (b) (6), one of our Executives leading our "Voice of the Client" Program. This is a program which enables us to have an Executive, outside our account team, speak with you about IBM and your program.

This initiative is crucial for IBM to hear from our most important clients to have a good understanding of how both existing and potential clients view IBM in the marketplace. The conversation is also a way for us to further understand what challenges clients are facing and potential disruptions in the marketplace. On a quarterly basis, we aggregate all client data, so that we can make improvements and/or provide additional innovations and thought leadership.

We would like to plan for an hour of your time, at your convenience, for (b) (6) to come meet with you. May I have a few available dates and times that work for you, so that I can schedule this meeting?

Thank you, and we sincerely look forward to speaking with you.
